

Jackson Hole News & Guide

NEWS

VALLEY

SCENE

SPORTS

STATE/REGIONAL

OPINION

PHOTOS &amp; VIDEO

CLASSIFIEDS

SUBSCRIBE

OBITUARIES

59° Sunny

Jackson, Wyoming

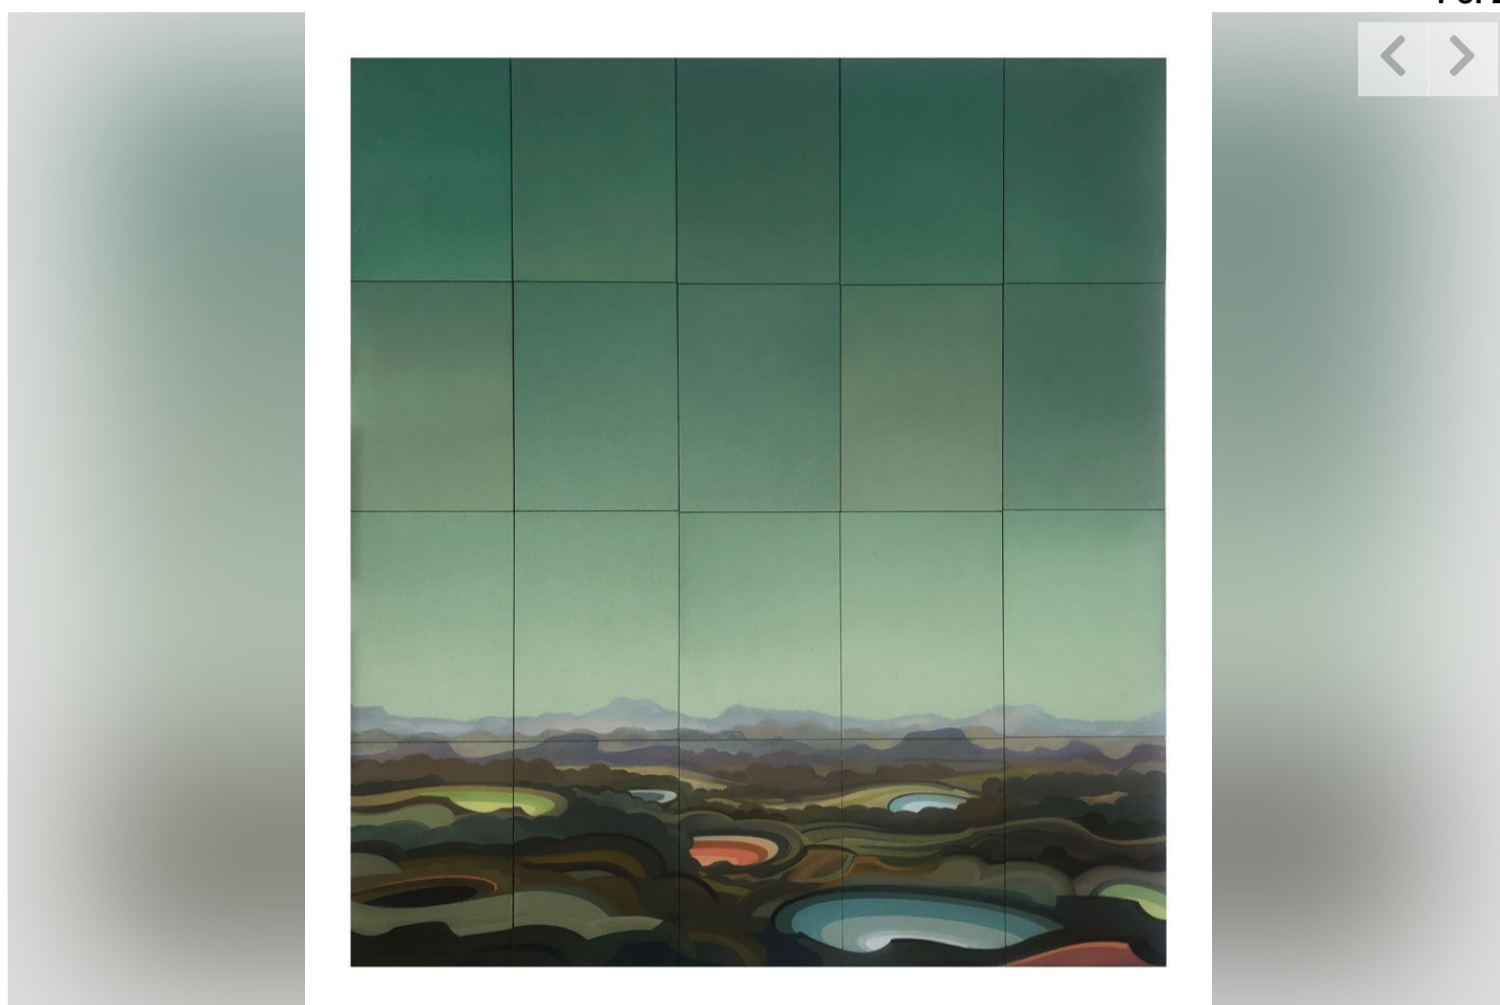

Monday, September 14, 2020

Search...

Brownfield artists offer fresh look on landscapes

By Whitney Royster Sep 9, 2020 0

Jeff Quinn's oil on panel, "Reformation, 2020," 28 by 25 inches, is part of the show "Landscape:Reimagined" at Shari Brownfield Fine Art in the old Wort Cabin on Glenwood Street.

COURTESY PHOTO

Located in an historic cabin, Shari Brownfield Fine Art is the new gallery on the block. For Fall Arts Festival she shows work by four artists.

"Landscape: Reimagined" brings together contemporary artists with something unfamiliar and unexpected to show about landscapes we have seen many times.

"I think people around the country are currently finding solace and comfort in our natural world," Brownfield said, noting trees with huge root systems and cloud formations. "These elements connect us all in some way during a period of flux."

Brownfield, who specializes in collection management, appraisals, and buying and selling, is in her first physical gallery.

"This is my first year with a brick-and-mortar space during Fall Arts Festival," she said, "and while I recognize how different this season is, I'm still really excited to bring together a group of four contemporary American landscape painters who are creating thoughtful work that we can all relate to in some manner."

Artists in "Landscape; Reimagined" include Jeff Quinn, who is inspired by deceased painters like Thomas Moran.

Tori White works with oils on natural wood and thinks of her works as "scenes from an unwritten movie in my head," according to a press release from the gallery.

Encaustics painter Pamela Gibson works in wax, pigment and fire. And Sean Cavanaugh creates detailed, realistic watercolors of the surfaces of trees.

"There is opportunity for wonder, mystery and intrigue in 'Landscape: Reimagined,'" said Brownfield, "where what appears to be familiar is also the unexpected, and where moments of the sublime appear in our midst."

The gallery is open 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. weekdays and by appointment. For information about Shari Brownfield Fine Art, visit ShariBrownfield.com or call 307-413-9262.

Contact Whitney Royster via 732-7078 or entertainment@jhnewsandguide.com.

Tags Shari Brownfield Fine Art Landscape: Reimagined Jeff Quinn Tori White Pamela Gibson Sean Cavanaugh

Fall Arts Festival Shari Brownfield Fine Art Landscape Artist Art Painting Watercolor Work

FULL LOCAL COVERAGE
CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC
CLICK HERE

NOTICIAS EN ESPAÑOL SOBRE
COVID-19

MOST POPULAR

Articles

1. Highway 22 crash takes life of Alta teenager
2. Power cut, roads closed in Grand Teton National Park
3. JHMR halts pass sales as it announces COVID-19 operational plan
4. Two moose killed over the weekend in Teton County
5. Wind from the north country takes out cars, trees and power lines
6. School board votes down in-person Friday classes for elementary students, for now
7. Wilson Elementary School students quarantined after case in school
8. Town wants 'gives' for King's gondola
9. JHMR limits capacity for winter season
10. Park guide charged on 17 counts

JACKSON HOLE FORECAST

MONDAY

Lo 33 / Hi 79
Areas Of Smoke

TUESDAY

Lo 37 / Hi 82
Sunny

WEDNESDAY

Lo 38 / Hi 82
Sunny

Powered By:

JACKSON HOLE CALENDAR

SEP
14

Western Visions Sale
Mon, Sep 14, 2020
Online

SEP
14

"Invisible Threads" exhibit
Mon, Sep 14, 2020
Center for The Arts

SEP
14

Painters Susan Durfee and Joseph Cipro exhibit at St. John's Health
Mon, Sep 14, 2020
St. John's Health Professional Building

SEP
14

Open hours
Mon, Sep 14, 2020
Jackson Cupboard